MISSION AVIATION FELLOWSHIP POST

Today, during his airstrip checkout in the village of Omban, MAF pilot Kees J. and Dave had to wait on the ground in Borme for the weather to clear. As they waited, an older man walked by carrying two thick books in his noken.

Curious, Kees asked what they were. With a smile, the man pulled out the Ketengban Bible, translated by Andrew S. and his team.

"Do you use it in church?" Kees asked.

"Not just in church," the man replied. "Every night in our homes, we read from it!"

A reminder that God's Word, in the heart language of the people, isn't just for Sundays—it's for every day
